PANEL's next phase : The Multiplier Event

After the pilot sessions organized in each partner country and the development of the guidelines for the educators, the project is nearly finished.

Indeed, there is just one months to go before the project comes to an end! So it's time for multiplier events!

But what is a multiplier event ?

Conferences, seminars, and other events held at the national and international levels with the aim of promoting the project results are known as multiplier events.

Thus the PANEL Multiplier events' goal is to familiarize local stakeholders with the approaches used to deliver online training programs that successfully entice unskilled workers in the IT industry. By enabling them to communicate and engage with other students and the teacher in the same way that they did in in-person classes, the intention is that they won't drop out of the course.

PANEL's Multiplier Events

Each partner must organize one or more multiplier events to showcase the results of the project to their volunteers, local populations, educators and learners. The following will be shown during our last events:

- The research on the challenges that low-skilled educators and students in the IT area faced when enrolled in online courses
- The pilot projects in the four training domains of ICT, art workshops, physical and mental health, and foreign language instruction
- The final document containing guidelines regarding training methodologies for the development of E-Learning training paths related to the 4 training areas considered
